WE WILL NOT COMPROMISE ON QUALITY!

We trust that you, as a Nutri-Spec Customer, share our total commitment to products you cannot match shopping anywhere else. This Nutri-Note concerns your Immuno-Synbiotic products --- Immune Restore, and Immune X-Flam. One of the probiotics in both those Immuno-Synbiotics is L. paracasei. As with all our synbiotics, we do not offer just any old species of a critter just to get its name on the label. No, we are very specific about, not just the species, but the strain of each probiotic. We shop from suppliers all over the world to assure we get nothing less than the best.

Regrettably, L. paracasei has been unavailable for months. This Note is to let you know that since we will not substitute any lower quality alternative, we will deplete our inventory of Restore and X-Flam very soon. ----- Immuno-Synbiotic Immune Power will still be available. We project that Immuno-Synbiotic with the high-quality strain of L. paracasei will be available in early July.

Is it worth waiting for? Absolutely! Why do we include this particular strain? The answer is quite simple --- we want to have maximum effects on the Immune System. L. paracasei exerts a powerful influence ...

- inhibiting excess inflammation related to mast cell activation in the gut wall.
- inhibiting excess inflammation generated by macrophages from the gut wall.
- maximum production of butyrate --- the short chained fatty acid produced by the better probiotics from the prebiotics that you also find in your Immuno-Synbiotic.

And --- we will never substitute garbage probiotics such as the common L. acidophilus --- which causes immune-mediated inflammation in many adults, and actually causes wheezing in children. ----- No, only nutritional specificity.
